Ethiopian Emperor Makes Concrete Proposals of Economic Concessions, but Will Not Accept Military Occupation—Italian Delegate Quits Meeting When Pressed for Statement

Lloyd's Rate Prohibitive For Insurance Against War

PARIS, Aug. 16 (P).—Ethiopia offered Italy economic concessions tonight but Premier Mussolini's unwillingness to tell France and Britain exactly what he wants was holding up progress in the tripartite parley.

In a message to the conference, Emperor Haile Selassie emphasized, however, that he would not accept a military occupation. His offer climaxed long deliberations by Premier Pierre Laval of France, Anthony Eden of Great Britain and Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy as the talks formally were opened.

QUIT THE MEETING
A British spokesman said Aloisi was pressed for a "frank statement" of what Mussolini wants. He declined to give it, but instead quit the meeting and telephoned Il Duce, "into whose lap the whole thing has now been dumped," the spokesman said.

Through his minister to Paris, Haile Selassie laid the following proposals before the three powers:

1. A guarantee of the security of the Italian colonies of Somaliland and Eritrea and of the security of Italians living in Ethiopia.

2. The granting of Italy of economic facilities for mining, road building and railway operations in Ethiopia.

3. The possibility of even more.

NEARLY CAUGHT BY HIGH TIDE

Oregon Couple Are Rescued From Narrow Rock Ledge High Above Waves

SEASIDE, Ore., Aug. 16 (P).—The Tillamook Head "death trap" grave for many a daring hiker, was robbed of two potential victims tonight when searching parties rescued a Seattle Wickdahl, seventeen, of Seattle, and Ernest Goble, eighteen, of Portland, from their precarious perch above the waves.

The pair had left Seaside to walk around Tillamook Head, possible only at low tide, yesterday afternoon. A search was instituted when they failed to return here last night, but not until late today was their rocky haven located.

IS CUT AND BRUISED

Miss Wickdahl was cut and bruised as a result of a forty-foot fall yesterday. Aside from suffering from hunger and exposure, Goble appeared none the worse for his adventure.

Both said they suffered severely from the cold last night. Miss Wickdahl and Goble said they had started to climb the rocks before the tide came in and had no intention of risking being caught by the water, but that when the former slipped and fell to a narrow rock ledge and Goble had descended to aid her, they found there was no way to return to the high level.

CHINESE BANDITS KILL TRAIN CREW

Japanese Troops Seeking Outlaws Between Peiping and Mukden After Attack on Express

TIENSIN, China, Aug. 16 (P).—Japanese troops combed an area between Peiping and Mukden today for outlaws who looted an express train, killed five and wounded more than a score.

The Chinese conductor, a train guard and three Koreans were shot to death in the daring holdup. Japanese officers said they believed the attackers comprised one of the many gangs of bandits operating in the Great Wall area.

The Rengo (Japanese) News Agency correspondent at Hankow, Manchuria, said Japanese army leaders there considered the incident a serious violation of the recent North China military agreement.

EARTHQUAKE RECORDED

SEATTLE, Aug. 16 (P).—The University of Washington seismograph recorded an earthquake of moderate intensity starting at 8 p.m. and lasting until nearly 7 tonight. It was not in an exact north or south direction, Seattle watchers said, being slightly to the east or west.

Simultaneously Juan Duarte, the Mexican fish and game commissioner here, said the tuna clippers had been released at noon today. He said he had no other information.

JEFFERSON TO PASS UP CITY

American Mail Liners to Omit Calls Here Because of Labor Dispute

Scheduled to arrive here early next Tuesday morning, inbound from Orient ports, the American Mail Line Ss. President Jefferson will proceed direct to Seattle from guaranteeing the local office of the company was advised yesterday afternoon from headquarters.

This decision on the part of the company is the result of the dispute which has prevailed on the waterfront here for some time, and which has been the cause of considerable inconvenience to people who are not directly interested in the arguments of the operators and the longshoremen.

The last two ships of the line to arrive here from the Far East had to continue to Seattle without discharging cargo consigned to this port, and it is understood that all inbound calls of "President" ships will be canceled until such time as an agreement is effected between the various parties to the dispute.

CALGARY, Aug. 16 (P).—C. Ross, Calgary mining engineer, today was telling friends how it feels to be in an automobile tumbling over and over for 200 feet down a mountainside. Blinded by sun and dust while making a turn on the Crow's Nest Pass Road west of Blairmore, Alta., Mr. Ross plunged down the side of the mountain, suffering only bruises and a severe shaking up.

NAVAL TALK IS PLANNED

Britain Invites U.S., Japan, France and Italy to October Conference

LONDON, Aug. 16 (P).—Great Britain called a preliminary naval conference today for October, but diplomatic circles were dubious over the prospect of holding it.

These circles felt the trend of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute and the general naval situation made it uncertain that the five powers could get together. If they do, still, a limitation treaty replacing those expiring at the end of 1936.

Those invited are the proposed signatories of a substitute for the Washington Naval Treaty—the United States, Japan, France and Italy. Under the Washington Treaty a formal conference is to be held some time in 1935. Britain feels this conference should be called by Washington.

Japan last Winter announced her intention to abrogate the Washington Treaty December 31, 1936, the earliest possible date. The only other general limitation, the London pact, automatically ends on that date.

Underlined by events in Africa, Britain is determined to push for a naval agreement in 1935.

Should the powers indicate their approval, it was understood, formal invitations for specific dates will be issued later.

EXPECTS NEW PROPOSALS

TOKYO, Aug. 17 (P).—A Foreign Office spokesman said today that Japan expects the British Government shortly to propose "new ideas" in the "qualitative" limitation, coupled with an agreement among the naval powers to announce their programmes.

GOBEL SWORN AS POSTMASTER

Appointments of Ministers of Marine and Finance to Be Filled

OTTAWA, Aug. 16 (P).—Some further progress was made today by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett in putting the reshuffling touches to his job of Cabinet rebuilding.

Hon. Samuel Gobeil, Member of Parliament for Compton, Que., in the last Parliament, who was sworn in on Wednesday as minister without portfolio, today administered the oath as Postmaster-General.

It was learned definitely today that J. C. H. Dussault, Montreal lawyer, would not enter the Cabinet, although he had been requested to do so as Minister of Marine.

EDMONTON, Aug. 16 (P).—Payment of a basic dividend of $75 a month was held out as a prospect for adult citizens of Alberta by William Abernethy, Social Credit leader, as he closed his Edmonton campaign tonight. Hitherto the dividend suggested has been $25 a month.

Denial of rumors that there would be wholesale firing of members of the civil service, should a Social Credit Administration be returned, was given by Mr. Abernethy, who also declared that cheques of railways would not be confiscated, as claimed in another rumor.

Follows Deadly Attack on Wife By Killing Self

Gilbert Hirst, Member of Old Nanaimo Family, Dead by His Own Hand—His Wife Grievously Wounded in Hospital Following Mysterious Assault by Estranged Husband

NANAIMO, Aug. 16 (P).—Gilbert Hirst, fifty-four, former proprietor of a Fairview district grocery store, is dead and his wife is in hospital with severe knife wounds as a result of what police said was an attempted slaying and suicide today.

Witnesses said Hirst died shortly after slaying his throat, following his attack on Mrs. Hirst, who was slashed about the head.

ACTING PECULIARLY

It is understood that Hirst, who had been out of the city apart from his wife after dredging her store, wished to take back control of the business. He returned to the city recently and is said to have been acting peculiarly.

This afternoon he entered the store and, according to customers, said, "May I come back?" Upon his wife's negative response.

CLIPPER PLANE AT WAKE ISLAND

Is First to Make Flight From Midway—Traverses 1,191-Mile Stretch

WAKE ISLAND (By Pan-American Radio), Aug. 17 (P).—The Pan-American Clipper seaplane alighted here at 12:25 p.m. today, ending a flight of 1,191 miles from Midway Island. The Clipper, first plane ever to soar over Wake Island, made the flight from Midway in eight hours, four minutes. It left Midway at 4:21 a.m.

Completion of the Midway-Wake flight brought the nineteen-day flying boat to the western terminus of its third Pacific exploration flight.

Airman Arrives at Tiny Settlement to Take Bodies of Famous Flyer and Noted Comedian South—Passing of Leaders Widely Mourned in the United States and Canada

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press)

POINT BARROW, Alaska, Aug. 16 (P).—Death, reaching through an Arctic fog, overtook Will Rogers, peerless comedian, and Wiley Post, master aviator, as their rebuilt airplane faltered and fell into an icy little river last night near this bleak outpost of civilization.

They had just taken off for a trifling ten-minute flight from their river position to Point Barrow. Sixty feet in the air the motor misfired. The plane heeled over on its right wing.

BOTH KILLED INSTANTLY

The lives of both the master of the wise-crack and the aerial globe trotter were crushed out instantly as the impact drove the heavy motor back through the fuselage.

The bodies rested tonight in the Presbyterian Mission warehouse here, to be flown to Fairbanks by the flying friend of both men, Pilot Joe Crosson, who arrived here tonight from Fairbanks.

Dr. Henry W. Griest, medical missionary, said the rescue party reported "the plane debris was readily removed, as it was torn and broken to fragments by the plunge."

"The bodies," he said, "were dressed by Charles D. Brower, the 'King of the Arctic,' whom Rogers was flying to see; Sergeant Stanley R. Morgan, of the United States Army Signal Corps, and myself."

A terrified Eskimo ran fifteen miles to Point Barrow with the news of the crash of the flying vacationists. Morgan dashed to the scene, recovered the bodies and brought word of the tragedy that shocked the world.

President and pauper alike expressed sorrow, for both men were known over the length and breadth of civilization.

CALM RESTORED AFTER REVOLT

Two Hundred Are Killed in Albania Before Uprising Crushed by Troops

TIRANA, Albania, Aug. 16 (P).—An official communique said tonight all is calm in Albania after an attempted revolt had been crushed, with undetermined casualties.

Police Lieutenant Musa Kraja and a journalist named Chetkuri, the statement said, headed the movement. They escaped but many others have been arrested.

The revolt was said to have started in Perland. Kraja, backed by police and disgruntled civilians, the communique continued, marched to Luoshja, where police remained loyal and held off the rebels until reinforcements arrived.

TWO HUNDRED KILLED

BELOGRADE, Aug. 16 (P).—The revolt against King Zor of Albania claimed a total of at least 200 dead and wounded in battles between Government troops and rebels who attempted the march on Tirana, the capital of Albania, it was reported here tonight.

FOUND HUSBAND NOT A METHODIST

Marriage of Protestant Woman Is Annulled and Children Are Adjudged Legitimate

MONTREAL, Aug. 16 (P).—Marriage of Anita Andrews, a Methodist, to Henry Bouffard, a Roman Catholic, was annulled today by Mr. Justice H. A. Fortier in Superior Court. Suit for annulment was entered by Mrs. Andrews, who said Bouffard had represented himself to be a Methodist when the marriage was performed in a Saskatchewan Methodist church. She said his claim that he was a regular employee of the Canadian National Railways was false.

Finding the woman was in good faith when she contracted the marriage, Mr. Justice Fortier ruled the two children of the union legitimate.

Further Details of Dominion Housing Act Given to Public

Provision Made for Home Building on Moderate Capital With Monthly Payments at Low Interest and Convenient Mortgage Conditions

OTTAWA, Aug. 16. (P.)—Under the Dominion Housing Act it will be possible to build a $5,000 home with an initial capital of $1,000 and pay off the balance at a rate of $26.40 per month in twenty years, according to further details of the act made public today by Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes.

Interest charges will be at a maximum rate of 5 per cent, and losses that may occur will be divided as between the Government and the lending institution. If at the time a loss occurs the amount owing under the mortgage is more than the advance by the lending institution, two-thirds will be borne by the Government and one-third by the lender. If the amount owing is less than the advance by the lending institution, that body will bear two-thirds and the Government one-third.

LENDING CONDITIONS

For the construction of a single dwelling or a larger building to be used for residences only, the Government and approved lending institutions will advance 80 per cent of the appraised value or estimated cost, whichever is the lesser. The approved lending institution will advance 60 per cent of the loan and the Government 20 per cent.

LOANS TO AUTHORITIES

Provision is also contained in the act for similar loans to local authorities in community housing projects. In the case of homes built for sale, 85 per cent of the loan is withheld until satisfactory sale has been completed, and in the case of apartments the same percentage is held back until leases have been signed for 90 per cent of the available accommodations.

First mortgages will be taken as security, jointly in the name of the King in the right of the Dominion, and the lending institution. They will be for ten-year periods subject to ten-year renewal.

Train Crashes Through Trestle

A Southern Pacific branch line locomotive and two freight cars were literally reduced to splinters near Cochrane, Ore., recently, when a 110-foot timbered trestle suddenly collapsed. Five men were instantly killed and two others were seriously injured. Three members of a bridge repair crew were on the span when it caved in. The train and the seven men were hurled into the yawning chasm below, as shown in the picture. Officials believe the weight of the locomotive proved too much for the trestle, which was under repair at the time of the tragedy.

Rogers, but everybody called him Will. He was a cowboy, humorist, writer, lecturer, philosopher, pianist, player, world traveler and flyer, but he went up in the air only as a passenger.

He was born at Oolagah, Indian Territory, November 4, 1879, but called Claremore, Okla., his "home town" and he was a legal resident of Oklahoma, although he spent most of his time at his ranch between Beverly Hills and Santa Monica, Cal.

He had Indian blood in his veins and was proud of it. One of his best wisecracks was based upon this ancestry, as he said that his ancestors did not come over on the Mayflower, but they met the boat.

His education came, he said, by easy stages. I studied the fourth reader for ten years," he told an interviewer, but he was a "kiddier" and off the stage and many of his boasts of being "ignorant" could be taken with a grain of salt.

After he left the fourth reader behind him, he went through the Will Low Hassell School at Needham, Mo., and Kemper Military Academy at Bonneville, and if he did not make a remarkable record for scholarship he did not fail.

His mother wanted him to become a Methodist minister, but Will had learned to ride a horse and throw a rope on his father's ranch, so he went back to the range. Then, starting with medicine shows and rodeos, he went along the road, and finally brought him to the very top of his profession as an actor.

JOINS WILD WEST SHOW
A rancher, Zach Mulhall, organized a Wild West show and Will joined it, finally reaching New Orleans. There is a tradition that he first attracted public notice on a large scale when he lassoed a wild cat that broke loose at Madison Square Garden and was about to dash through the crowd.

Certainly shortly after his first appearance as "The Gambler" he was on the vaudeville stage. Charles Mack of Moran and Mack told of Will's initial efforts in vaudeville. He was pretty bad said Mack and disconcerted. He talked it over with Charley.

"Where are you going?" asked Mack.
"Back to Oklahoma."
"Been fired yet?"
"The manager said I was pretty punk."

"Yeh, you're all of that; but has he actually told you that you are fired?"
"Well, no."
"Don't tell till he tells you; maybe you can stick it out to Saturday night. That will be three days more pay."

"MADE" BY JOKES
Before the week was out, Will appeared to make a wisecrack about something he saw in a newspaper, an observation shyly delivered of something that struck his fancy. The audience laughed. Rogers tried some other joking remarks, and was

It was a short stop to Hammerstein's Roof at $150 a week and then he spent six years as the star of Ziegfeld's Follies.

He ventured into motion pictures, but failed to score the success expected. The silent screen gave the comedian no chance to convulse his audiences with his homely observations rendered in a drawl that only Rogers knew. But when talking pictures appeared, Rogers became a box-office riot and thereafter the legitimate theatre saw little of him.

When his friend, Fred Stone, was injured in an airplane accident in 1929, just before he was to open a new play in New York, Rogers rushed across the continent, took the role "for old Fred" and scored another hit.

He continued, however, to go on "lecture tours," packing great crowds into theatres, auditoriums, schools, houses and churches. He raised a small fortune for the drought-stricken areas in 1930, and in his quiet way gave thousands of dollars of his private fortune to charity.

His wealth was estimated by his friends at several million dollars and he carried life insurance of approximately $1,000,000. He never talked about his money, but he was a high salaried actor for years. His salary was $25,000 a week when he worked. He was paid $2,500 a week for stage appearances and he was

HEAVILY INSURED
NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP).—Life insurance of approximately $800,000 was carried by Will Rogers when he died. It was disclosed tonight by John J. Kemp, a broker who had handled the noted humorist's insurance business for twenty years.

A substantial portion of the total was in endowment policies, Kemp said, and in the past year approximately $200,000 worth of this form of contract had matured. At the peak Rogers was insured for nearly a million dollars.

JUBILEE GIVEN USEFUL GIFTS

Donations Acknowledged by Hospital Directors at Meeting Last Night

Among the unique gifts received during its lifetime by the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital is a ship's wheel, acknowledged with due appreciation by the board of directors at their regular meeting last night. This donation was made by Dr. A. E. McKie for use in the physiotherapy department, where it can serve a valuable purpose in helping a certain type of patient to restore use of injured hand, arm and shoulder muscles.

Another donation gratefully acknowledged at the same meeting was a cheque for $1,000 from the municipality of Oak Bay.

UP-TO-DATE HOSPITAL

The directors as usual devoted a considerable part of the meeting to the discussion of recommendations that show the board's anxiety to give the hospital the advantages of the most up-to-date equipment available. A special committee is to be appointed to look into the whole question of the supply of radium and X-ray appliances and apparatus in the department of radiology, as it was felt by the board that the institution must not lag behind in any respect.

The monthly hospital report showed the total days' treatment for July to be 6,811; average number of patients per diem, 230; cost per diem, $3.36; gross cost per diem, $3.65.

MEET IN NOVEMBER

It was announced that the annual meeting of the Provincial Hospital Association would take place at the Empress Hotel on November 13, 14 and 15, and would be attended by Dr. Harvey Agnew and other notable authorities on hospital administration.

The medical superintendent, Dr. T. W. Walker, announced that the chief resident intern and two senior internes of last year were remaining, and four new appointments would be made, bringing the total number of internes to seven. All were reported to be exceptionally well-equipped for their work, with correspondingly beneficial results in the efficiency of the hospital.

The annual hospital ball, under the auspices of the senior and junior Women's Auxiliaries, will be held in November, the date to be announced later.

The president, Hugh Allan, presided.

extensive agricultural concessions to Rome.

After a full meeting of all three delegations, Laval announced that the day had been devoted to analyzing diplomatic documents, presumably treaties involved in the dispute, and that further discussions would be held tomorrow.

"WORSE THAN LOSING"

ROME, Aug. 16 (P.)—Acceptance of any compromise in the Italo-Ethiopian controversy would be worse than losing the fight, the Roman press said tonight.

Editorials to this effect appeared along with new reports from Paris, where spokesmen for Italy, France and Britain are seeking a way to avoid open hostilities.

The Observator Romano, Vatican City's semi-official journal, declared, however, there was no need for undue discouragement in the Italo-Ethiopian situation and expressed the hope that a pacific solution would be found.

PROHIBITIVE INSURANCE

LONDON, Aug. 16 (P.)—A big run of applicants for African war insurance sent the carrying charge for that risk up almost to 100 per cent today.

The opinion prevailed in informed circles that this affected European-wide gloom about the chances of preventing war in Ethiopia.

Lloyd's underwriters quoted the allegedly prohibitive rate of 90 per cent for insuring against an outbreak of hostilities before the end of the year.

British and foreign military officials here said that war between Italy and Ethiopia is likely to break out between the first and third week of September, should diplomatic efforts fail.

WOUNDS ARE SEVERE

Mrs. Hirst was rushed by ambulance to Nanaimo Hospital, where Dr. Ingham, who is in charge of the case, states that she is suffering from shock and all wounds are severe. She may recover.

Gilbert Hirst was a member of one of Nanaimo's oldest families, his father having built the Hirst wharf, which stands today next to the C.P.R. wharf, and at the time of his death left much valuable business property in Nanaimo and in the Upper Island.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Scholwater, who leaves Washington tonight for Nanaimo; his wife, and one daughter, Miss Estelle Hirst. The remains were taken to Jenkins' morgue by Coroner Hickling.

spect. The National Railways are not half as bad as represented."

True, said Mr. Stevens, there had been reckless expenditure for a time on the National Railway system. Now, however, the National system was well managed.

"Given a reasonable chance, this great system will yet prove to be one of our great assets. Nor is there justification for 'bearing' the stock of the Canadian Pacific Railway as has been done in recent years."

The effort appeared to be to stampede the public to delude them, and to convince them that the railway problem was "so overbearing that it transcends everything in the Dominion."

IS THE TIME TO HOLD

It could easily be seen, Mr. Stevens said, how the plan might be put through. C.P.R. stock "beared down" might easily be picked up. The Canadian National painted black might find itself regarded unfavorably by the public. "We must prevent these railways falling into the hands of a group of powerful financiers," Mr. Stevens warned.

This is not a time to sell or sacrifice. This is the time to hold on to the systems and operate them to the advantage of Canada."

Canada's railways needed traffic, and this would come with an increased purchasing power for Canadians.

"What Canada needs, yes and what the railways need," said Mr. Stevens, "is an easy money policy."

Tomorrow the Reconstruction Party leader will leave for Winnipeg, where he will speak next Monday night.

Improvements in City Schools to Make Big Saving

Building and Grounds Committee of Victoria School Board Carries Out Extensive Repairs, Remodeling, Renovating, Cleaning and Re-decoration—Costs Reduction Effected

ONE of the greatest improvements in many years to be undertaken in city schools is nearing completion as the Fall term approaches, a tour, made by the building and grounds committee of the school board, disclosed yesterday.

All boiler-rooms have been renovated, classrooms and corridors have been redecorated, new roofs provided, new floorings, new auditorium, and a general salvaging of old stock have been carried out.

The improvements are too numerous to summarize in one paragraph, but what is most important is that the improvements carried out will mean a big saving to the city in dollars and cents, and better health conditions for the students.

WILL SAVE MONEY

In renovating the various schools, the committee has discovered a wide variety of old stock that is well worth salvaging, and reconditioning, which will save money for the city.

Those who participated in the tour included Trustee Percy E. George, chairman of the committee; Trustee C. R. Bishop, Trustee Kenneth Ferguson, Major A. C. Hinton, superintendent of buildings and grounds, and newspaper representatives.

Some conception of the amount of money that will be saved by the investigation carried out by the committee into old stock on hand can be gained from the fact that 800 desks have been accounted for at a central location at the Boys' Central School. All of them ultimately will be reconditioned. The question of replacing school desks tops at a cost of $2.25 each has been solved by the committee, which has discovered a means of reconditioning the desk tops of those now in use by sanding them on a special machine at a local mill. The tops are reconditioned at a cost of eight cents apiece, thus giving a saving of $2.07 per desk.

A large quantity of other stock also was assembled at a central point, and this also will be reconditioned or sold instead of being allowed to be around gathering dust.

CHIEF IMPROVEMENTS

The Boys' Central, Girls' Central, North Ward, Victoria High and Victoria West Schools are where the chief improvements have been carried out, while Victoria College also has come in for its share of major improvements.

To a former student of the Boys' Central School, the improvements made there have transformed the interior in some instances almost beyond recognition.

By taking out the wall between two rooms, the school has been provided with an auditorium for the first time, and one that will accommodate the entire student body. The auditorium is being painted, and it is the plan to secure the names of all students who distinguished themselves either academically or in sports since the school's

FIRE IN THE BUSH NEAR JORDAN RIVER

SHIRLEY, Aug. 16.—A bush fire, which started, it is alleged, at a logging camp on Tuesday, is still burning around Camp Two, near Jordan River. A large force of men, under the direction of Major Porteous, has the fire in hand at present, after burning over about fifty acres, mostly old slash, but, as there is a strong wind blowing and the woods are extremely dry at present, it may be difficult to keep it under control.

FROST AND RUST TAKE HEAVY TOLL

Prospects of Big Revenue for Prairies Are Fading—Like Mirage

NEW VARIETY WILL RESIST DISEASE

WINNIPEG, Aug. 16.—Spring-time prospects of big revenue from a better-than-average crop of high quality—for the first time in five years for some areas—were fading like a long-lived mirage for half of Western Canada's agrarians tonight, while the other half faced threats of frost damage.

Reports on crop conditions showed widespread rust damage to wheat in Manitoba and in Southern and Eastern Saskatchewan. Western Saskatchewan and Alberta farmers worked under threat of frost because of lateness of their crop.

Chill winds blew out of the north and skies were cloudy over the whole Prairie farm belt. Up to four degrees of frost occurred in parts of Saskatchewan and Northern Alberta. Kindersley, Sask., reported a temperature of 28, four degrees of frost, while other points in Alberta registered two degrees of frost.

The Winnipeg Free Press crop survey showed 1,500,000 acres of common bread wheat, and 1,000,000 acres of durum wheats affected seriously by rust in Manitoba out of a wheat-seeded acreage of approximately 2,000,000. Rust damage was placed at 70 per cent.

Rust affected 4,500,000 acres of Saskatchewan wheat—12,000,000 acres seeded to wheat with damage varying from slight to a point where it will not pay farmers to harvest, the report said.

Alberta, free of rust but hit hard with hail, faced prospects of frost damage because of lateness of crops. Only southern sections are harvesting.

NEW VARIETIES READY

EDMONTON, Aug. 16.—The "calamity of rust," which has taken its toll of millions of acres of rich wheat lands in Manitoba and Saskatchewan can never happen again, believes Major H. G. L. Strange, chief of the Winnipeg Grain Research Bureau.

Rust-resistant wheat he declared here while on route north during an inspection tour, will eliminate the "red dust menace" from the Prairies.

Rust research wheat has been perfected in Manitoba research laboratories, and the seed will be ready for the entire devastated area in Manitoba and Saskatchewan within two years time, he declared.

BLOWN FROM MEXICO

The rust infection he said blew into the Saskatchewan and Manitoba districts from Mexico on the wings of prevailing southerly winds.

This year, he added, everything was perfect for rust—the crop two weeks behind time, hot weather and strong rust-bearing winds.

Major Strange, who is directing governmental and grain forces in a crop testing plan designed to make all Canadian wheat Grade No. 1 Northern, estimates the rust loss this year will aggregate 5,000,000 acres.

STATE MURDER DUE TO ERROR

Misunderstanding in Ransom Negotiations Costs Life of British Journalist

PEIPING, Aug. 16 (CP-Havas)—Garth Jones, Manchester Guardian Far Eastern correspondent and former secretary to David Lloyd George, was murdered by his Chinese bandit kidnappers through a misunderstanding, it appeared today.

Abducted for ransom on July 28, the British journalist's body was reported found today near Paochang by Chinese soldiers who were trying to rescue him. Death was caused by three shots.

There was evidence that he had been dead since Monday.

Ignorant of DEAL Preliminary inquiries led to the belief he might still be alive except for the well-intentioned rescue mission. According to a reliable account, in the midst of negotiations being conducted by a Chinese magistrate to obtain Jones' release, the bandits transferred their camp into an area ruled by another official.

This latter magistrate, ignorant of the pending deal, sent out troops to liberate him, it was said, and the bandits, believing themselves betrayed, murdered their captive and fled.

Jones, making a first-hand investigation of conditions in China for The Manchester Guardian, was captured by bandits in Inner Mongolia on July 28. Captured with him was Herbert Mueller, correspondent for the German News Bureau.

Mueller was released on August 1 after rough handling and permitted to go to Peiping with a demand by the bandits that $40,000 ransom be paid for the release of Jones. The bandits also demanded arms and ammunition.

Chahar Provincial authorities immediately began negotiations through which the ransom demand was reduced to $20,000 and it was frequently reported that Jones' release was near.

Jones formerly was private secretary to former Prime Minister David Lloyd George. When Lloyd George was told of the murder he said he was "struck with horror." He had appealed to the Foreign Office personally to start diplomatic negotiations for Jones' release.

Bandit-ridden region Informed quarters said they saw little possibility of obtaining any type of redress against the slayers. It was pointed out that the region into which Jones penetrated is bandit-ridden despite the fact that both Chinese and Japanese authorities have striven to clean out the outlawry.

Dr. Mueller said he and Mr. Jones had learned of purported Japanese preparations in Dolonor for a new invasion of Chinese territory. It was while the two newspapermen were en route by automobile from Dolonor to Kalgan, a city 125 miles northwest of Peiping, that they were captured.

Life Insurance Men From United States To Holiday in City

Over One Hundred Representatives of Bankers' Life Company, of Des Moines, Arrive at Empress Hotel From Convention at Banff

As a side trip from their annual convention held at Banff on Monday and Tuesday, 110 representatives of the Bankers' Life Company arrived at the Empress Hotel yesterday for a two-day stay.

Organized in 1879, the Bankers' Life Company has its headquarters at Des Moines, Iowa, with branches all over the United States. Officers are G. S. Nollen, president; W. W. Jaeger, vice-president; G. W. Fowler, vice-president and treasurer; and B. N. Mills, secretary.

At Banff the convention was called by the senior school and was attended by representatives of the company whose ratings are high. J. R. Rowe, Chicago, was elected president of the school; T. H. Reinhard, New York, vice-president; C. D. Barner, Wichita, Kansas, secretary; and J. Janciar, Pittsburgh, treasurer. Junior schools will be held for other representatives at Denver, Des Moines and Columbus, commencing on August 26.

The visit to Victoria is part of the president's premier club school, and time will be principally taken up by golfing, fishing and sightseeing. Many of the representatives plan to remain in the city until Monday. At 9 o'clock this morning the majority will visit R. P. Butchart's Sunken Gardens and drive over the Malahat.

HERE IN 1910 Mr. Mills, secretary of the company, revisited Victoria last June after an absence of twenty-five years. He declared yesterday that he was impressed with the changes and believed few Canadian cities had undergone such a metamorphosis in so short a time.

"There are not many North American cities with such beautiful surroundings," he stated last evening. "I believe your Up-Island scenery is unsurpassed in its grandeur. Your many lakes and streams are a veritable sportsman's paradise, but I notice a useful lack of good roads. Many of the most alluring spots on the island cannot be reached by the modern tourist who likes to drive right up to them in his automobile," he maintained.

Mr. Mills disclosed that the insurance business in the United States was far better the first six months of this year than during the corresponding period last year. This, he believed, was a reflection that business in general was generally improved across the border. Improved purchasing power of agricultural communities was being felt in all parts of the United States.

He paid tribute to the efficiency of Canadian life insurance companies, being acquainted with officials of many of them. He mentioned that businessmen of the United States were interested in the economic welfare of Canada, because they felt interest of the two countries were so closely allied that one could not be prosperous without the other.

Prize-Winning Display by Owl Drug

During the druggists' convention, held here during the week of August 5, the convention committee offered a prize for the best dressed drug store window, the judging to be divided into two classes—those stores inside the city centre and those outside. The above display, arranged by The Owl Drug Store, Campbell Building, on the corner of Fort and Douglas Streets, was placed first among the city stores. The window, dressed by a clerk in the store, featured prescriptions, and had for a motif the colors of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, namely, purple and white. Clark's Pharmacy, 1064 Pandora Avenue, was awarded first place among the drug stores outside the city centre.

The Rogers family could put a good team on the field.

"Had to break it up," Will kidded. "Many went society on us."

He wrote a dozen books and for many years wrote a short daily "box" for a number of newspapers, containing sage comment on the day's happenings.

He was seriously mentioned as a candidate for the presidential nomination in 1931, but laughed the suggestion off by saying:

"A comedian can only last till he takes himself seriously or his audience takes him seriously, and I don't want either one of those to happen to me until I'm dead (if then), so let's stop all this foolishness right now."

Clem Rogers, father of Will, played a part in adopting the first constitution of the state of Oklahoma, and a county was named for him. Of this Will said:

"Heck, they had to; nobody could pronounce the old name—Coowee-coowee."

In Claremore a hotel is named The Will Rogers, a six-story building which the comedian boasted had more bathrooms than Buckingham Palace.

"I used to envy General Grant and Jesse James, but I never saw them. I used to envy them. But shucks, now I've kinda got it on 'em."

GRAMMAR TOO BOTHERSOME

He couldn't be bothered with grammar, either in his writings or in his talks. Once an interviewer suggested he took too many liberties with the laws of syntax. "What's that?" he asked. "Sounds like bad news." The other explained it meant grammar, whereupon the sage laughed and replied: "Didn't know they was buying grammar now. I'm just so dumb I had a notion it was thoughts and ideas."

His most repeated remark was: "All I know is the papers and the radio practically every word in every available paper wherever he happened to be each morning. Once he was asked if he read any fiction. He replied: "Sure, the newspapers."

He was an ardent admirer of Mark Twain, and on a visit to Virginia City, Nev., where the great humorist once lived, he tried to find a bed Twain had occupied. The quest was in vain, for he was told that when the writer lived there he was too poor to own a bed.

He always denied that he was an actor.

"I'm not smart enough to act," he said. "If they can find out that's sort of like me. I'm all right. Otherwise I'm punk."

His employers in the motion picture industry never bothered to write a dialogue for his films. He couldn't or wouldn't remember. He said just what seemed about the right thing to say at the time.

His studio prepared a "grand" place for him to occupy on the lot. A sandbar garden decorated with cactus plants surrounded an adobe but dressed up with an electric kitchen and a living-room filled with Western and Indian trophies. Rogers never went back until former President and Mrs. Coolidge came to call. He ushered them into the house, saying: "They had to set some where, didn't they?"

He could do almost anything with a rope and was a great horseback rider, but once while a guest at Hoot Gibson's ranch he had to decline to enter a milking contest, being forced to admit he never had learned to milk a cow.

He found his weaknesses in playing polo and, unlike other stars of the motion pictures, he could take chances without fear of injury, maiming his features and hurting his career.

"Couldn't make my mug look much worse no matter how I hurt it," he said.

He owned a hurdy gurdy, piano, violin, banjo, drums, mandolin and guitar, and could not play any of them.

He was an outstanding flyer.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 16 (AP).—From a modest farm near Mayaville, Okla., Wiley Post rose to become one of the world's greatest flyers—not satisfied with making the fastest time around the globe, but pushing on to new achievement in the stratosphere.

Post had early ambitions to become an airplane pilot, and these were not stopped by an accident in a machine shop several years ago which cost him the sight of one eye.

With Burrell Tibbs and Dorsey Askew as his instructors, he learned to fly, and joined them as a parachute jumper in their "flying circus."

After three years of "harnistoring," he settled down to make the personal pilot of P. C. Hall, wealthy independent oil operator, who later became his backer in the flights that brought Post and the Winnie Mae plane world fame.

FIRST NOTABLE FLIGHT

The stocky five-foot Harold Gatty for a navigating partner in June and July, 1931, on his first record-making flight around the globe. Their time was 207 hours and 55 minutes, less than ten days.

In 1933 Post set out alone from Floyd Bennett Field, New York, bent on breaking that record without the help of a navigator. Less than nine days later, in just 186 hours and 49 minutes, he had flown around the earth, and landed again at New York.

Post was born at Grand Saline, Texas. The aviation "bug" first bit him in 1919 while he was a rigger's helper in the Oklahoma oil fields.

His original investment in aviation was $25, when he accepted from the highest bidder a biplane for $25.

He saved enough to learn flying, but in 1926 he tired of piloting borrowed machines and went back to the oil fields to get together a stake for a ship of his own. The second day at work he lost his left eye when struck by a steel splinter chipped off a link pin.

Post's flying first attracted national attention in August, 1930, when he won the non-stop air Derby from Los Angeles to Chicago.

From that time on, he was almost constantly in the limelight of aviation, following soon with the round-the-world flight with Gatty, then his solo record-breaker, and recently his attempts to reach super-speed in the stratosphere.

Post used his faithful Winnie Mae, the ship that carried him to the heights in his four unsuccessful attempts to span the continent in the stratosphere.

His reason for this, he said, was "pure sentiment," and it was with reluctance he saw her head for retirement recently after the last attempt.

The ship, a high-wing monoplane, was named for Winnie Mae Fain, the daughter of Hall. Post's early financial backer.

On these high-altitude flights he used a landing gear fastened in such a manner that it could be detached upon taking off, to reduce the wind resistance. The plane was landed on its "belly," on a small wooden skid.

His primary purpose, Post said, was "not to break the existing speed record, but to prove my theories as to the possibilities of stratosphere flying."

ISLAND ROADS UNDER REPAIR

Alberni and Merville Sections of Mulch Surfacing Under Way Now

Estimated to cost $30,000 to $35,000, premixed mulch surfacing is being carried out on the Canadian Highway between Alberni and Parksville by contractors under direction of the British Columbia Department of Public Works. Eight miles of so-called "permanent" surfacing is to be laid on the highway, over a strip of sixteen miles, from Mile 112 to Mile 128.

A major diversion is planned for the road, to be regraded for a mile at Alberni Mountain, with the object of reducing a 15 per cent grade to 8 per cent, works officials said.

ON ISLAND HIGHWAY

Work is also commencing on the Island Highway, between Merville, famous in Land Settlement Board days, and Campbell River. Sixteen miles of mulch surfacing will be applied along the route, extending virtually to Campbell River.

Other and lesser undertakings are also under way about the Island at this time, it was said, including trail cutting on the West Coast.

The major work is part of the $1,500,000 special works programme which the Province is financing through purchase of new issue British Columbia bonds with cash earnings accruing in the sinking funds.

WALKER—Many friends were present at funeral services conducted Friday afternoon for the late Alfred Atkinson Walker. Rev. Robert Connell conducted an impressive service and interment was made in the Colwood Burial Park. A large number of beautiful floral tributes were received, testifying to the very high esteem in which Mr. Walker was held. Members of the 6th Battalion, of which Mr. Walker had been a member, attended and paid their last respects to their friend and comrade. The following acted as pallbearers: Adam McFarland, E. Germain, A. E. Christie, S. H. O'Neil, E. Forrest and J. Haywood.

OBJECTS DISCUSSED

It was emphasized in the course of discussion that the object of organizing was to form a unit which would be effective in providing first aid to the sick and injured. Each of the sixty members enrolled has already qualified for first-aid and nursing, holding certificate and medals, and attendance at the lectures and demonstrations would serve the purpose of a continuation and "brush-up" course in theory and practice. Furthermore, the mere fact of the meetings being held would advertise the existence of the local division.

"We hope that industrial concerns, business houses, factories, shipping firms, railways and other branches of the kind will avail themselves of the information and help we can give them," said one of the officers of the newly-organized branch.

FINANCING DEBATED

The matter of finances will be considered at a later date, after the secretary that those who had not already taken the examinations this year, but wished to do so, should notify her immediately.

In discussing the matter of having first-aid kits available for emergency use at track meets, it was stated that the Y.M.C.A. had already arranged to have first-aid men on the fair grounds at the Willows, as they did last year. Next year, it was understood, the city would take over this responsibility under Dr. Felton's direction.

MARKET BOARD

WILL CONTINUE
Approximately 100 Tomato Growers Ignore Provincial Poll on Control Scheme

Only 143 out of 240 owner-producers of hothouse tomatoes and cucumbers, given ballots, took part in a general poll closed yesterday, and which was decided in favor of continuation of the controlled marketing scheme by a vote of 121 to 19, with a few spoiled ballots. Approximately 100 producers failed to cast any ballot at all. As a result the Government is counting them in as favorable to continuation of the scheme, on the theory that silence gives consent.

BALLOTS COUNTED
The ballots were opened and counted by A. E. Horner, returning officer for the poll, at the Legislative Buildings in the morning, in the presence of W. Straith, counsel for the British Columbia Hothouse Tomato and Cucumber Board, and of representatives of white and Chinese growers. The result was six to one in favor of continuing the operations of a board.

The personnel of the actual board is also being voted on, with ballots in this case returnable on August 24. One member, Murdoch Dingwall, of Vancouver, has been seated already by acclamation. Two others are to be chosen, one to represent white growers and one for the Chinese. Four candidates are in the field for the two remaining seats.

TO CONTINUE SCHEME
Asked, after the ballots were counted, if the Government would consider the vote decisive in view of the fact that about 100 growers ignored the balloting completely, Hon. K. C. Macdonald said the Province and the Provincial Marketing Board could consider only the formal result. A vote had been held and a majority of those voting had decided that the scheme should proceed, he said.

The Minister's formal ruling on the issue will be made after the result of the poll has been handed to him by the returning officer.

PROMISES TO HAVE PAPERS COMMENT ON VICTORIA BUSINESSES
Promising them editorial comment in various newspapers, a man representing himself as a United Press employee, is canvassing city firms and seeking subscriptions of $5.00, according to a report to police yesterday by William Findlay, assistant secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Findlay stated a check had been made with the United Press, and as far as could be learned, this was a secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The services were conducted by Rev. Canon Chadwick. The hymns sung were "Day and Moments" and "Abide With Me." The funeral was under the charge of Vancouver and Quadra Lodge, A.F. & A.M. No. 2. At the graveside the Masonic burial services were conducted by W. Bro. T. Percy Waters, W.M. of the lodge.

The pallbearers were also members of the Masonic order, several of them having served in the army with the deceased. They were: W. Bro. Philip H. Hughes, W. Bro. George Inglewood, Bro. Major J. C. MacDonald, Bro. Major Gordon Smith, Bro. Frank Gioia and Bro. John R. Moir.

That Body of Yours
(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

HEALTHY TONSILS PREVENT ALLERGENIC, UNHEALTHY TONSILS CAUSE ALLERGENS
When youngsters first start school there is usually a physical examination by a nurse and doctor, and the parents may be notified that their youngster has tonsils and adenoids that should be removed.

The reaction in most homes is one of common sense; the youngster is sent to the family doctor and the operation is followed.

Now the records show that in the families where the youngsters have been well brought up, at least one-half of them have had their tonsils removed, whereas four years ago none of their parents underwent the operation.

When it was discovered, some twenty to thirty years ago, that rheumatism often followed tonsillitis, and heart disease followed rheumatism, many tonsils were removed as a "safety measure." Today, careful consideration is given to every case before tonsils are removed. This is because the tonsils are now recognized as a part of the body's defense against infection, and the removal of them is considered a "safety measure."

Following these attacks of tonsillitis or sore throat, the tonsils and the tissues surrounding them become dark red and inflamed. The tonsils are then removed.

The best evidence that the tonsils are giving trouble and should be removed is the frequent sore throat, but even if the throat is not sore but liquid pus can be squeezed out of the holes or crypts, or the lymph gland in the neck is large or painful, or the tissue about the tonsil is purplish red, then the tonsils are should be removed.

The point, then, is that tonsils are not now needlessly removed, as their value to the body, when healthy, and are carefully considered by the family physician and the surgeon.

VISITOR PRAISES B.C. NEWSPAPERS

Captain M. H. Knapp, London, Pleased With Beauty and Grandeur Around Victoria

"Your newspapers contain more world news than those east of the mountains," remarked Capt. M. H. Knapp, of London, retired Royal Navy medical officer, in an interview at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Not only local newspapers find approval in Captain Knapp's eyes, but Greater Victoria's beauty and grandeur are fully appreciated.

Captain Knapp, retired some fifteen years, desired to recount any of his experiences while in service, preferring to discuss Vancouver Island. He is on his way to the Orient and Antipodes for a holiday.

He came to the Coast with the British Medical Association party which sailed recently for Australia.

One member of the party could be chafed against this, the visitor declared, that being its "strict beer and liquor laws that prohibit drinking with your meals."

COL. ROUS CULLIN IS BURIED HERE

The funeral of the late Colonel H. J. Rous Cullin, who commanded the 88th Battalion when it left Victoria for service overseas in the Great War, was held yesterday afternoon. There was in attendance a representative gathering of military men and those in business who had been associated with the late Colonel Cullin during his thirty years' residence here.

The services were conducted by Rev. Canon Chadwick. The hymns sung were "Day and Moments" and "Abide With Me." The funeral was under the charge of Vancouver and Quadra Lodge, A.F. & A.M. No. 2. At the graveside the Masonic burial services were conducted by W. Bro. T. Percy Waters, W.M. of the lodge.

Local Authors Asked to Send One-Act Plays

Two young Victoria playwrights, Miss Ruby Edmonds and Mr. Archie MacCorkindale, have been singled out for special distinction in having plays chosen by Lady Tupper, of Winnipeg, adjudicator at the last B.C. Drama Festival here, for presentation in Winnipeg during the coming season.

Information concerning this was received here a few days ago by Major Bullock-Webster, president of the B.C. Drama Festival Association, and yesterday confirmation came by word of mouth from a Winnipeg visitor, who said the plays selected would be produced there the last week in September. Miss Edmonds' "Jewels of the Larder" has been chosen from among her plays, and "Casino des Ambassadeurs" has been selected as Mr. MacCorkindale's.

The programme in which these Victoria playwrights' works will be presented will consist entirely of Canadian one-act plays. The two plays have already gone forward, and will be cast immediately in preparation for rehearsals.

PUBLICITY BUREAU URGES HOLIDAY BE HELD ON A MONDAY

The Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau does not favor Thanksgiving Day being proclaimed this year on October 24, which falls on a Thursday. With the names of the Harold Husband, president, and George I. Warren, secretary, signed to it, the bureau yesterday morning dispatched a telegram to Premier R. B. Bennett.

It read: "Thanksgiving Day being a home-going holiday, the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau urges that it be held on a Monday instead of Thursday so as to give time for people to visit their homefolk over the week-end. Thousands of Canadians residing immediately south of the international boundary wish to get home on this particular holiday."

A group of ministers, meeting informally recently, began to swap stories of embarrassing moments in public. The prize went to a minister who had this unfortunate occurrence happen to him during the years of the war. He was giving a children's talk as part of his Sunday service and had asked one of the boys to come up on the platform to add uniqueness to his talk. The boy's father was an insurance agent, and the preacher wished to draw a moral lesson from this, so he asked the boy: "What is it your father is doing, Johnnie?" The lad, who evidently listened in on a private family discussion, answered without any embarrassment: "He's trying to escape the draft."

Madam Ganna Walzka said at a dinner party in Chicago: "Cosmetics serve a good purpose, for, like statuary and pictures and so on, they beautify. How much more beautiful a room full of young women is nowadays than in the days of Queen Victoria."

"On that account I am in sympathy with the young woman whose grandmother said to her: "Helen, Helen, why do you insist on using makeup?"

"And Helen very modestly and truthfully answered: "Because, grandma, I haven't the face to go without it."

Little Stories for Bedtime

Peter Promises to Keep the Secret

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

As Peter Rabbit sat staring down at the nest and eggs of Mrs. Meadow Lark he noticed that the approach to it was by means of a regular little tunnel of grass. It was one of the cleverest things Peter had ever seen. "No wonder I never have been able to find Mrs. Meadow Lark's nest when I have looked for it," thought Peter. "It is just luck and nothing else that I have found it this time. I think it is just wonderful that Mrs. Meadow Lark can hide her home so. I do hope Jimmy Skunk isn't anywhere looked this way and that way. Jimmy Skunk was nowhere to be seen, and Peter sighed with relief. Very carefully he walked around that nest and its little tunnel, then hurried over toward the fence where Carol the Meadow Lark sat.

"It's perfectly beautiful, Carol," he cried just as soon as he was near enough. "And I won't tell a single soul."

"I hope not. I certainly hope not," cried Mrs. Meadow Lark in an anxious tone. "I never would have been able to say Mrs. Meadow Lark's nest when I have looked for it," thought Peter. "It is just luck and nothing else that I have found it this time. I think it is just wonderful that Mrs. Meadow Lark can hide her home so. I do hope Jimmy Skunk isn't anywhere looked this way and that way. Jimmy Skunk was nowhere to be seen, and Peter sighed with relief. Churches and Their World-Wide Work

Ethiopian Church Has Many Jewish Elements

The conviction of the Ethiopians that their best blood and oldest traditions have no nearer source than King Solomon himself, the temple builder of Jerusalem, is recalled by a contributor to The London Times. They assert, he says, that the Queen of Sheba—then their sovereign and for whom their name is "Aseba" or "Maqueda," but whom the Koran calls "Balkis"—had by him a son, Menelik, born after her visit to Solomon's capital.

Menelik succeeded her at the age of twenty-five and was crowned King of Ethiopia in Solomon's temple. He then returned to his own country with a numerous retinue of Israel and Judah, who brought with them a share of the divine blessing vouchsafed to the Jews.

SHOW JEWISH INFLUENCE

To this day the Ethiopian Christians bake their bread in thin round cakes similar to the Jewish Passover bread, and their creed, though mainly a modification of the Coptic and Orthodox theology, involves a considerable mixture of Hebrew ritual and belief. The adoration of the host, for instance, is accompanied by that of the Ark of the Covenant.

Other features suggestive of Jewish influence is the observance of the Sabbath as well as Sunday, the abstention from pork and other "unclean" foods, circumcision of both sexes, and obedience to other prescriptions from Leviticus and Deuteronomy. In the north, the churches are built square, but in the south they are circular, like those of the Templars.

The lately are not allowed to read the Gospel writings of the Apostles, but only David's Psalter. This, though over ninety per cent of them are illiterate, they know by heart and sing on every possible ceremonial occasion.

Theme Is Concerning The Soul

"Soul" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday. The golden text is: "I will set my tabernacle among you, and my soul shall rest among you." And I will walk among you, and you shall be my people" (Leviticus xvi, 11, 12).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them" (Matthew xv, 30).

Individual's Name Held to Indicate Religious Belief

STARTING with the query as to "what church the Smiths attend," and whether it is possible to spot a man's religion by reading his name in the telephone directory, the church feature article in tomorrow's issue wanders away to the populous centres of Asia's millions. Instead of the Smiths, the religious affiliations of such diverse personalities as Liang Chi-Chao, Mirza Ahmed, Govind Das, Rabindranath Tagore, Khama and Toyohiko Kagawa are touched upon. The premise is made to deal with the Smiths in a later issue.

French Print Shop Has Rare Collection Of Old Type Fonts

National Printing Office Has Characters in Many Languages, Including Some Fourteen Oriental Tongues—Many Treasures Among Cases

PARIS, Aug. 3 (U.P.)—France boasts the largest print shop in the world in the Imprimerie Nationale—the National Printing Office—and whether the claim is justified or not, it is safe to say that it holds there the largest collection of type fonts.

Very possibly the National Printing Office is the world's biggest print shop. France is credited with a tremendous room furnished using more official forms in the government of the empire than any other country in the world, and the centralized administration causes them all to be printed in Paris. Government ownership of many public utilities—such as telephones and telegraphs—calls for printing which many other government printing establishments are not required to do.

For instance, the National Printing Office in 1933 printed 200,000,000 slips for noting the time of long-distance calls, and the number of telephones in France has increased enormously in the last year. The Paris telephone book, two weighty volumes, is issued in 630,000 copies, while the provincial telephone books, also printed in Paris, run to 3,000,000 more. Altogether, the print shop uses 1,900 tons of paper in its telephone books alone.

MANY SPECIAL SHOPS
There are numerous special printing shops within the big shop. There is a secret workshop reserved for the Ministry of War, whose secrets are carefully guarded. There, the mobilization orders for the next war are printed and ready. No printers work in that shop whose patriotism and discretion are open to the slightest doubt. Then there is the special Treasury printing office that turns out Treasury bonds and now is particularly busy on national lottery tickets—though not nearly as busy as it was during the revolution, when it printed the famous assignats in such numbers as to bankrupt the nation. An automatic counter was used at this printing possibly for the first time, but the assignats were finally being printed in such quantity that it was discarded as useless. The money was not worth enough to count.

The great treasure of the National Printing Office, however, is its collection of fonts in non-Latin alphabets. France's vast colonial empire keeps the National Printing Office busy with such languages as Chinese and Arabic, and there are fourteen competitors able to compose in forty-five Oriental languages. The Chinese fonts include 40,000 characters, which are classified according to 214 keys, which these men know by heart.

RARE ORIENTAL LANGUAGES
But that is not all. The printing office not only possesses fonts of rare Oriental languages, but of languages which exist no longer. Many of these fonts go back to a

STORMY LOVE

A YOUNG NAVY MAN'S ROMANCE

CHAPTER XVIII

When Jan caught sight of Val he heard her voice falter, saw the color drain from her face; her gaze and his seemed to lock and build a bridge of dazzling light between them. A breathless second—and then she had picked up words and air again. And though he was aware of the curious stares of those about him, yet he scarcely waited for the applause that followed her song before he pressed forward to where Jan met the two eager hands he held out to her.

"Glorious! It's good to see you, honey!" Keeping tight hold of her slim fingers, he leaned above her, his blue eyes smiling down into hers. Jan's cheeks were delicately flushed now. "Val! I had no idea you were arriving until the transport on the twenty-third!" She gave an excited little laugh. "Truly, I thought I was seeing a nice brown ghost."

"I've had a surprise myself. Sue said you were at Mt. Rainier. 'We were, but Kent sprained his wrist skiing. Then last night the rain spoiled the snow. And so we all decided to come home.'"

Val's smile faded. "Townley, eh? I suppose that bird is still conspiring against your single blessedness, Jan?" A frown straightened her arched brows. "Did you have a pleasant crossing?" she asked, with sudden cool politeness.

Sue Norris, on her way through the room, interrupted. Sleepy eyes mocked them when she cooed. "Hello, there, Jan darling. Seeing you two blissfully glaring at each other reminds me of Old Home week. Except don't forget that now there is a dear little stranger to complicate matters." She laughed and moved on.

The color in Jan's cheeks deepened. "Val, what a stupid idiot I am," she cried. "I was so—so startled at seeing you—Oh, I should have told you at once how delighted everyone was at the news of your marriage. Do forgive me—I'm afraid I simply forgot for a moment—" on you, Jan. Lia is such a kid and she is new to the navy, you know."

"Lia. It's a lovely name. I'll do everything I can to make her feel at home here. You know that." The old poised Jan was in command now. Oddly regretful, he surrendered the thrill of that first excited moment. He watched her step back a pace to regard him. "Let me look at you."

She said, her head tipped to one side. "And tell me all about yourself." "I haven't changed at all, my day and I'm sorry. You were right about me, of course. Except that the way I am, and not likely to change." There was a moment's tense pause before he managed to ask, "I say, how is my best gal, Mimi?"

"Oh, bursting with health and high spirits, and simply dying to see you." She turned suddenly to scan the room with eager eyes. "But, Val, do point out the bride to me."

He was startled to hear a sweet, Southern drawl at his shoulder. "The bride is here, patiently hoping to be noticed," Lia smiled gently.

Over his wife's head he caught a glimpse of Sue's impish grin. A slow, painful flush crept up into his face.

"Why Didn't You Tell Me She Was Like This?"

child. Disappointing, eh? The last time we met, you know, you were all for a complete renewal of parts." Chin up, she looked hastily away. "All that was quite inexcusable of me, Val. I have learned to mind my own affairs since then."

He reached out impulsively to catch her hand in his. "It was darned nice of you to care what happened to me, honey," he murmured. "I acted like a fool that last scarcely believe you are the girl I've heard so much about." She turned to gaze up reproachfully at Val. "Why didn't you tell me she was like this, dear?" she demanded. "She isn't at all as I pictured her. Why, she is pretty, and she has a lovely figure and—why, Val, Val Preston, she has perfectly adorable feet. See, they are almost as small as mine."

She stood beside the other girl to place a diminutive slipper next to the other's slender foot. Gazing up at Jan, she murmured, "Honestly, I am just so astonished I can't get over it."

Jan was laughing. "It sounds as if Val had described me as a sort of ponderous glances. Mrs. Preston, and not a very attractive one at that."

Val frowned inwardly. What would Lia pull next? He had never discussed Jan with her. Never. But a man couldn't state in public that his wife was a sweet little liar and that he'd like to break her charming neck. He breathed a sigh of relief when she turned her attention away from Jan to introduce Maurice Cordray.

Brad's boss! Close to the chap last something of the romantic speech and noticeably broad A's. He looked up straight in the eye and gave back a firm hand-clasp. He said to Val, "I must explain that Mrs. Preston's little Chinese slippers fascinate me to the point of infatuation. Morris had gone to fetch her tea, I could find no one to present me, and so I introduced myself."

Before Val could reply, Sue's drooping voice broke in. "I didn't know you had a penchant for Chinese slippers."

As if switched on by a button, the hard blue eyes conveyed her brilliant smile. "The unusual always interests me, Miss Sue," he replied. Turning to Val, he went on to explain. "You see, I am hoping that the red slippers have done me a double service. Mr. Preston. The Bel Masque d'Orient at your Navy Club on the twenty-fourth is under my direction; and as the affair is for the navy relief fund, everyone quite naturally is eager that it shall be a success. Now, my piece de resistance—the Masque Manchou—was abandoned because I was unable to find the right type for the part. It required one with lure and mystery, someone very slender and small and ebony-haired. And then a while ago, when I glimpsed the Chinese slippers, something clicked in my mind, and I saw in Mrs. Preston the very one I had been seeking. Now I've been imploring your wife to lend us her charm. Won't you second me in persuading her to at least try the part?"

Lia's small hand rested on Val's arm. "The Masque Manchou will be the most important scene," she told him, her eyes shining with excitement. "I shall have more than two weeks left to prepare, with instruction from Michio Sakoh, the great authority on Oriental dancing, who is at present in Seattle." She smiled over her shoulder at the golden-bearded man. "Best of all, Mr. Cordray seems convinced I am clever enough to make it a success."

"And if one is clever," Sue Norris purred, "why bother with talent? To be Paylova's successor one needs only to appear at tea in boudoir slippers. And if by chance they are very small, red slippers, then rehearsal is practically unnecessary, and Mary Wigman, the German success, had better look to her laurels."

NATIONAL LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP)—Long, lean "Dizzy" Dean, snuffing from a head cold, snatched his long right arm at the Giants today as though it were a black snake whip, shutting them out, 1-0, to pull the Cardinals back within three games of the National League lead.

Big "Diz" allowed only three hits, one of them a scratchy bouncer over his own head, as he became the first pitcher in the majors to win twenty games this season. To win, "Diz" had to beat Hal Schumacher, Giants' right-hand ace. R. H. E. St. Louis . . . 1 5 0 New York . . . 0 3 2

RECORD FIELD AFTER HONORS

More Than 900 Low-Ranking Players Seeking U.S. Amateur Title

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP)—A new record entry list of 954 for the United States amateur golf championship—Young Bud Donovan, of Winnipeg, among the nine Canadian hopefuls—was announced today.

The championship proper is scheduled for Cleveland, September 9 to 14, but 903 aspirants must play thirty-six holes of medal play in sectional qualifying tests next Tuesday.

With Donovan, who showed rare form in being runner-up in the recent General Brock tournament at Fonthill, Ont., will be Ross "Sandy" Somerville, London, Ont., veteran who won the crown in 1930.

Among the invaders from England will be Brigadier-General A. C. Critchley, who hails originally from Calgary.

Jack Nash, Somerville's clubmate, Jack Cameron, Montreal and Fonthill, Ont.; young Bud Donovan, of Winnipeg; Gordon Taylor, Jr., of Toronto, and diminutive Joe Thompson, of Ancaster, Ont., are the better-known Canucks entered.

Bobby Reith Is Open Golf Champ

WINNIPEG, Aug. 16 (AP)—Bobby Reith, twenty-one-year-old Assiniboine Club amateur star, won the Manitoba open golf championship here today. He carded two rounds of 76, four over par, to finish two strokes ahead of his father, Charles Reith, Assiniboine professional, "Chuck" Hodgman, St. Charles, placed third with 155.

BABE RUTH FAILS

CLEVELAND, Aug. 16 (AP)—The $3,500 prize open golf tournament at the Acacia Country Club today was mostly a lot of fun as far as Babe Ruth, dedicated home-run king of baseball, was concerned.

The Bambino turned in an "informal" score of 43-42-85, for the eighteen-hole opener, and was in trouble almost as much as out.

So far on this tour, Miss Wethered has shot consistently in the low seventies, her best score being a 71, which equaled men's par on a tough course in the Eastern States. She recorded a 74 against Bobby Jones' 72 later on her trip, and has attracted large galleries in every city.

Victoria has seen Sarazen, Kirkwood, Companion, Boomer, Hutchinson, Barnes, Chick Evans, Espinosa, George von Elm, Walter Hazen, Johnny Farrell and other notable stars, but this is the first time in history that such a great fair sex exponent of the game will be appearing, which means that one of the biggest crowds in recent years is expected to trail her around the links.

GREAT RECORD

Followers of golf know the fine record made by Miss Wethered in the British championships. Three times she met Glenna Collett, now Mrs. Vane, United States champion, in finals, and every time she came out on top, each one of her victories being convincing, leaving no doubt as to her superiority over American players. Miss Wethered won the British women's amateur crown on four occasions, her first triumph being back in 1922.

The following year, but came back stronger than ever to win again in 1924 and 1925. She skipped three years and then returned to the ranks to lift her fourth major title. After that Miss Wethered quit competitive golf for some time and then not long ago took up the game as a business and started on her present tour.

KAY STAMMERS AND DOROTHY ROUND IN SINGLES VICTORIES

Former Shocks American Fans by Great Win Over Helen Jacobs After Fine Exhibition—Latter Defeats Mrs. Arnold Easily—U. S. Takes Doubles Match in Straight Sets

By ALAN GOULD Associated Press Sports Editor

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 16 (AP)—Thanks to an uphill triumph for left-handed, winsome Katherine

Stammers over the sturdy United States champion, Helen Jacobs, Great Britain gained a 2-1 lead over the defenders today in the competition for the Wimbledon Cup, international women's tennis trophy.

The twenty-one-year-old English girl struck the blow that may prove decisive in Britain's challenge to America's four-year winning streak. Making her debut in cup play, she rallied courageously after being in a blistering extra set, to achieve the downfall of Miss Jacobs by scores of 5-7, 6-1, 9-7.

As expected, England's No. 1 player, hard-hitting Dorothy Round, decisively defeated Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt of Los Angeles, in the second singles encounter, 6-3, 6-3, but the United States girls averted a rout and likewise contributed to the day's surprising developments by capturing the doubles.

CAPTIVES DOUBLES

The British had hopes of a sweep as they sent their Wimbledon championship combination, Miss Stammers and Freda James, into the final match, but they were quickly swept aside by the American team of Miss Jacobs and Sarah Paulfrey Fabjan, of Boston, national titleholders. In a duel dominated mainly by Mrs. Paulfrey's sparkling volleys and effective service, the United States posted its first victory by scores of 6-3, 6-2.

An even break in the four matches which concludes the series tomorrow will clinch the cup for Old England's ladies for the first time since 1930. The Americans will need three out of four to keep the trophy, Miss Jacobs' defeat was a shock to the home forces as well as a distinct surprise to most of the 2,500 spectators who endured blistering heat to watch today's competition.

The three-time United States champion, unbeaten in Wimbledon Cup play since 1932, was a heavy favorite to win.

THROWS CHANCES AWAY

After having her early advantage wiped out by Miss Stammers' smashing attack in the second set, Miss Jacobs came back to gain repeated leads in a see-saw final chapter. The Californian seized the "breaks" to take leads of 5-4 and then 6-5 on games, only to lose them away with her erratic service. Matching her chop strokes against the English girl's sharply-hit south-paw drives, Miss Jacobs finally found the pressure too much for her and wilted rapidly at the close.

HART BEATS BALLINGER IN SENIORS' GOLF FINAL

Victorian Veteran Takes Great Match At Nineteenth Hole

Brings Title Back to City After Lapse of Six Years by Thrilling Win on First Extra Hole—Invaders Capture Class Honors—President C. S. Battle Presents Prizes at Finish

Frank Wilkinson, Vancouver, scored over R. D. McGilivray, Seattle, in class "C." Dr. E. S. West, Yakima, carried class "D" back to Eastern Washington State by disposing of R. A. Thatcher, Seattle, 2 and 1.

PRESENTS PRIZES
Following the various finals, C. S. Battle, retiring president of the association, presented the championship cup and other awards to the long list of winners and runners-up. He congratulated John Hart on his splendid win and handed out a fine tribute to the sportsmanship and plucky battle put up by the defeated Seattle player. Both Hart and Ballinger spoke briefly and, like most golfers, handed the praise to the other.

Getting back to that great final between the Victorian and Sound City veteran, one thing can be said and that is it was the most exciting match played in the thirteen years of competition. It was anybody's match in those last few holes and the pair had the large gallery guessing who the next champion of the seniors would be.

Ballinger put up a great battle against the local Oak Bay player, and had he not missed a short putt not more than eighteen inches, at the nineteenth the match would have continued much farther, there is no question about that. Hart and Ballinger had the crowd in suspense at the eighteenth, when the former chipped up within two inches of the cup from underneath a broom bush for his par four. This stroke put Ballinger on the "spot" as he was still twenty feet away and needed to hole the putt for a half. He studied the line carefully, then stepped up and canned the downhill putt to send the match to the nineteenth.

HART TAKES LEAD
Getting down in par after a poor drive and a smothered second shot, Hart won the first hole to take a lead he never gave up. Ballinger failed to recover from a trap and practically conceded the hole after his misadventure. At the second, Hart was in the trap on the right, but he exploded beautifully, fourteen inches from the pin to gain a half. Ballinger was pin high with his tee shot and putted dead for his par. Dubbing his second shot and then overplaying the flag with his third, Ballinger lost the third hole, when Hart, off line with his second, approached close enough to get his par. Ballinger ran into more trouble at the fourth, his second catching a sand pit and his third sailed over the green and he took a five to Hart's four. Both hit the green at the fifth in two, but Ballinger, who was putting up his back a twenty-footer for a birdie, which gave him the hole when Hart was short with his putt.

Hart went three up again when he caught the next green with his second and got down in par four. The next two holes were halved, and then Ballinger cut the lead at the ninth by missing a difficult downhill putt for a fine three, after Hart was short with his approach over a trap and his putt.

STILL IN FRONT
Shooting his drive off to the left into an unplayable lie, Ballinger ran into difficulty at the tenth and was forced to play another ball from the tee. He missed up his fourth and then ended up with a seven, Hart won the hole after hooking his second and dubbing his third. Ballinger putted dead at the eleventh for a win, which left the local politician two up. Despite the fact he played to the green rather poorly, Ballinger managed to gain a half at the long twelfth.

Both reached the short thirteenth green with their drives, but Hart three-putted rather nervously and lost the hole and now was only three up. Ballinger was pin high at the next hole, while Hart's tee shot, although on the green, was well short. The Victorian made up for his last three-putted green by caging a long thirty-footer for a two to win against Ballinger's par three.

Another three-putted green came

Brunsdon's Boys And Cafemen to Open Play-Offs

BRUNSDON'S Boys, "A" section champions, and the Poodle Dog Cafe, "B" section titleholders, will open the city championship softball play-offs this evening at the Royal Athletic Park at 6 o'clock, with Pick and Watt in charge. The second game will be played tomorrow afternoon at Bullen Park at 3 o'clock, with the same officials, and the third fixture on Monday evening at Upper Central, with Watt and Pick again officiating. In case other fixtures are needed to decide the champions, grounds will be announced later. The series will be the best three-out-of-five, with the winner advancing to the Vancouver Island play-downs. The series is expected to draw one of the largest crowds of the season.

out of Hart's system at the fifteenth and again his lead was reduced to one up with only three holes remaining. Ballinger played a beautiful No. 4 iron dead to the sixteenth pin and sunk his three-footer for a win, which squared the match as Hart barely missed his ten-foot putt for a half. A pair of fives halved the next hole, and along came the eighteenth.

SINKS LONG PUTT
Hart's drive was off to the right in the rough, while the Seattle veteran was straight down the center. Ballinger was short with his second and over the flag with his third, while Hart's second was well off the green nearly under a broom bush. He played to the pin boldly, his ball stopping two inches from the cup for a great recovery, leaving Ballinger with a twenty-footer to sink to get a half. Ballinger did what any expert would do, so straight for the cup he sent his putt for the half. There is little to say about the nineteenth, for when Ballinger missed that short eighteen-inch putt the match was all over. Hart ball aimed the cup and as it did he stepped across the green to extend congratulations to the new champion.

Poodle Dog Cafe Squad Reaches Softball Final

Defeats Saanichton, 11-10, in Bang-Up Game at Central Park—Hall Drives in Winning Run in Last Inning—O'Connor Stars

Bill Hall's sharp single through the infield in the ninth inning, with two men on the bags, broke up a bang-up softball game yesterday evening, at Central Park, and brought the Poodle Dog Cafe squad through to an 11-10 victory over a fighting Saanichton aggregation of softballers in the second and final game of the semi-finals of the city championship playdowns.

It was a sweet victory for the cafemen and a tough game for the lads from the suburban district to lose. Battling like Trojans all of the way, with the score first in favor of one club and then the other, the encounter was easily one of the best play-off fixtures of the season. Hundreds of people lined the first and third base line and were treated to a great exhibition with two teams fighting doggedly for victory. To the Poodle Dog Cafe victory meant advancement to the city championship finals, and to Saanichton it meant another chance to reach the coveted spot. However, the Poodle Dog barked loud enough to gain the fruits of victory; and Saanichton, beaten after a great struggle, meant another championship picture just the same as other nines have done, but only after putting up a great fight.

TAKE EARLY LEAD
Getting to the offerings of Pete Sweeney, Poodle Dog Cafe hurler, early in the first, Saanichton earned seven of their ten markers in the first two frames by scoring three in the initial stanza and four in the second. From this stage, until the eighth, Sweeney went along in fine fashion. True, the suburban lads hit his offerings, but he was being given airtight support, consequently Saanichton was unable to add to their score.

Poodle Dog Cafe opened with three markers in the first frame, added two in the second, and one in each of the third, fourth, fifth and seventh sessions, to gain a two-run lead, with the score standing 9-7 in their favor.

Along came the eighth inning, and with it a barrage of hits that sent Pete Sweeney to the showers and three runners the distance for Saanichton. Tommy Johnston replaced Sweeney on the mound for the cafemen, with the score standing 11-7 in their favor.

IS OPPOSED TO NIGHT BASEBALL

DETROIT, Aug. 16 (AP).—President Frank J. Navin, of the Detroit Tigers, said today that in his opinion night baseball "would be the beginning of the end for the major leagues."

Not only was the president of the American League leaders firm in that assertion, but he had several pointed remarks to make about the baseball situation in general. Speaking specifically of the majors, Navin remarked that second division clubs usually are colorless and listless and don't draw in any league—night or day. "Why, this night game is baseball's ruin," he said. "It changes baseball players from athletes to actors. It's nothing more than a spectacle. I certainly would be against it."

GEORGE LOWE IN FINE WIN OVER EDWARDS

Scores Straight-Fall Victory in Wrestling Bout—Parker Defeated

George Lowe, the "Chinese Flash," beaten last week by Wally Edwards, the "Cedar Hill Wildcat," in the main event of the wrestling card at the Mount Stephen Club, lamed the "Wildcat" last night in spectacular fashion by scoring a straight-fall victory in a finish match. Using the famous Indian deathlock hold, Lowe pinned Edwards after twenty minutes of lively and exciting grappling, and then finished the "Wildcat" for the evening when he tossed him out of the ring twice in succession. Edwards, rugged and game squirmer, climbed back the first time, but after he was tossed out the second time he heard the birds sing and could not scramble back into the ring.

It was a great match and a popular victory for George Lowe, judging by the thunderous ovation the hundreds of fans gave the victor at the conclusion of the colorful battle. The boys grappled at 137 pounds.

PARKER DEFEATED
Unleashing a two-fisted attack to Bobby Parker's body, Seaman Ferguson, H.M.S. Danae glove-thrower, won the nod over the Canadian Scottish brawler in the top bout on the flatbush portion of the mixed programme. Parker used a good left hand but lost a number of points because of his consistent back-pedaling. The boys fought at 125 pounds. Jack Patterson, hard-hitting local lightweight, stopped Gus Dawkins in the second round of their scheduled three-round mix. Billy Thorburn and George Gauthier, seventy-five-pound youngsters, battled to a draw, as did "Red" Knowles and Dickie Reid, another pair of seventy-five-pound glove-throwers. Bill Stein and Alec Gardiner, local squirmers, grappled through four four-minute rounds to a one-fall draw. It was a good bout and at Bellingham, 4 and 2.

the conclusion the boys received a good hand.

Jack Newby, official timekeeper, and one of the energetic members of the club, was presented with an easy chair in appreciation of his untiring efforts, by Louis Callan, matchmaker. Surprised indeed, but pleased, Mr. Newby extended his thanks for the gift from the club.

Another bumper crowd was on hand to witness the card, which was in keeping with the high standard being presented weekly by the popular Mount Stephen Athletic Club.

U.S. TEAM IN NARROW WIN
Captures the International Match at Seniors' Golf by Two Points

KIPPED by Joshua Green, the 1934 grand champion of Seattle, the United States team made it four in succession over a select Canadian squad, under the captaincy of J. W. Ruggles, Victoria, in the annual international match for possession of the Nicol Cup, donated by the late Hon. Walter C. Nicol, former Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, yesterday afternoon, at the Oak Bay Links by an 8½ to 6½ score. Played in conjunction with the Senior Northwest Golf Association tournament, the match was featured by several close finishes.

Canada has not won the coveted trophy since 1931, but went down fighting in yesterday's tussle against the strong American side. Hon. John Hart, who in the forenoon was crowned 1935 grand champion by his win over Jack Bullinger, Seattle, at the nineteenth hole, dropped a close decision to W. H. Abbott, Bellingham, who held the title in 1933.

FLIGHT... By W. D. TIPTON and J. H. MASON

ED MUSICK

IS THE CHIEF PILOT OF PAN-AMERICAN AIRWAYS AND CAPTAIN OF THE PAN-AMERICAN CLIPPER NOW PIONEERING THE AIRWAY TO THE ORIENT. HE HAS FLOWN A DISTANCE EQUAL TO 40 TRIPS AROUND THE EARTH.

HE WAS THE FIRST PILOT HIRED BY PAN-AMERICAN AND PILOTTED THE FIRST AMERICAN TRI-MOTOR EVER TO GO ON A COMMERCIAL AIRLINE, ACROSS THE 90 MILE AIRWAY BETWEEN KEY WEST AND HAVANA.

HE HOLDS THE UNIQUE RECORD OF HAVING PASSED THROUGH AMERICAN CUSTOM HOUSES MORE THAN 2000 TIMES ON HIS SCHEDULED TRIPS TO SOUTH AND CENTRAL AMERICA.

Of all the top-flight commercial pilots, Capt. Edwin C. Musick least resembles the popular picture of the aviator. Slim, dark, quiet, unassuming and immaculately dressed, he would be taken for a studious professional man rather than America's first international mail pilot. During his twenty-two years service in American aviation, Musick has flown over 10,000 hours; has never participated in a "stunt" flight, but holds more world records in his own name than any pilot in the world. He has never had a serious accident befall any aircraft of which he was the pilot and no bodily injury has ever been caused to a passenger in any of his planes. He is forty-one years old, and began to fly at nineteen. During the war he served as civilian instructor in the U.S. Army Corps at San Diego, Cal.

As chief pilot of Pan-American Airways, Musick has the last word to say in the selection of pilots for his company, and is in direct charge of the long and thorough training course all Pan-American pilots must take before they receive the rating, "first pilot."

WHY DO WE SPEAK OF CANVASSING A DISTRICT

A thousand years ago, an Anglo-Saxon carefully filtered or strained a liquid through a cloth. Today, every year around election time, in every district of our fair land, can be seen the political worker making calls upon the voters. Both acts are described by the same word—canvass.

Canvass comes to us from the old French canabasser, meaning to examine curiously. Actually and properly, however, it was applied to the process of sifting or straining as already indicated.

From this original significance there developed the sense of search or scrutiny, the idea of exploratory undertaking intended to separate one thing from something else, the desirable, let us say, from that which was unwanted.

So, by logical extension, canvass came to be applied to, among other acts, the examination of a particular territory or area to ascertain who were voting for or against a particular candidate or ticket. It was applied also to the act of soliciting a certain neighborhood, for instance, the idea being to single out some from the rest and in getting subscriptions to periodicals.
